What happens after we've received your complaint?

Most complaints will be handled by our complaints process, but there are times when we will use another process, for example if your complaint relates to another customer's behaviour we will investigate this through our anti-social behaviour process.

For all other complaints, we will respond to all of the points of your complaint within 10 working days. In some cases, if the complaint is complex, we may contact you to discuss an extension to these timescales to allow us to fully investigate the matter.

When we respond we will let you know the outcome of your complaint and set out any actions we are going to take to put the matter right and when we intend to do this by.

What can you do if you're unsatisfied with our response?

If you are not satisfied with the outcome of the stage 1 investigation, or if the actions have not been completed, you can escalate your complaint to stage 2.

After receiving your request to escalate your complaint we will review our previous response to you to ensure there are no outstanding or unresolved issues. We may also contact you to ask for further evidence to help support your complaint and allow us to investigate it further.

We will appoint a senior manager to review your complaint along with a customer from one of our Locality Influence Networks. They will complete their investigation within 20 working days and write to you to let you know the outcome.

What if you're unhappy with our final response to your complaint?

If you remain dissatisfied after you've been through our complaints process, you can contact the Housing Ombudsman or refer your complaint to a designated person.
